

Dusseldorf airport plans to re-program the software showing arrivals and departures in an object-oriented programming style in C++. In this task classes and an example as a first prototype shall be implemented

